

Gloucestershire Schools Christmas Lectures 2013

A group of students from Schools in Gloucestershire were invited to attend two Christmas lectures at dean close school in Cheltenham. The lectures were about an hour long and they finished at 12:30.

Matt Pritchard

Matt Pritchard is a Magician as well as a Mathematician. He combines his tricks with maths and sequences. He revealed a few of his tricks however only the ones to do with maths because he is a member of the magic circle. He started with three ropes which he combined into one and then copped into two.

Matthew Tosh

Matthew Tosh is a performer and a Pyrotechnician using fireworks to show the colour and sounds that different chemicals can make inside a firework. We learnt what went into gunpowder (black powder) and the different types of firework. Waterfall, rockets, fountain, and Mines.

Overall the lectures were fun, exciting and very loud. With new knowledge retained we travelled back to our schools not forgetting an amazing day that we had experienced.
